How to Use this Book

We love trees. They give us fruit, shade and something to hitch our hammock to. For that reason, we do not recommend that you print out this entire book.

If you can't stand reading on the computer screen, print the Table of Contents along with these first few instructional pages.

Use the page numbers in the Table of Contents to pick out just the awards you need to print.

Introduction

The office: it's a place to earn an honest living, a place to use your skills and best of all, a place to spend hours surfing for useless junk on eBay™ and get paid for it.

But within every place of business, there comes a time when it becomes necessary to give those who toil there a "thank you" that's bigger than just dental coverage.

And that's where the Employee Awards Ceremony comes in.

Don't worry; this gathering won't be uptight in the least. You won't have to make a trip to the creepy tuxedo store in the dark corner of the mall, and Joan Rivers won't be cracking on people's outfits on the red carpet outside.

This ceremony is all about having a good time, and at the same time showing some gratitude for those who are down in the cubicle trenches with you every Monday through Friday.

But most of all, it's about fun.

Sure, you could gather everyone together in some conference room and hand out plaques reading "Best Salesman" or "MVW" (Most Valuable Worker), but where's the fun in that? Funny awards are where it's at. They give thanks while simultaneously making sure everyone has a good time. Your employees don't want to sit through a dry presentation any more than you want to give one. We all suffer enough at our jobs without the supposedly fun times adding to the misery.

So how, you ask, do you put on a lively presentation that will be a guaranteed good time for everyone in the office? Just by purchasing this book, you're halfway there.

Everything you need to know about organizing a ceremony is here with plenty of helpful tips. And most important, you'll get 101 awards certificates that will be appropriate for everyone around the office, no matter the employee or the type of business.

So put your phone straight to voicemail, grab a highlighter, hit the snack machine for a bag of Funyuns and let's get started.

About the Author

Larry Weaver is a professional comedian, entertainment booking agent, and creator of the Funny Office Awards Show – the company party where your employees are the stars.

Larry grew up in the tiny mill village of Saxapahaw, NC, and started performing at a young age. After majoring in accounting at the University of North Carolina, he left his CPA dreams behind to tour across America with improv comedy group Selected Hilarity.

He went on to share the stage with “Weird Al” Yankovic, Faith Hill, Ray Romano, and Chris Rock – just to name a few.

Upon going solo, Larry released three CDs of funny songs and commercial parodies. These albums spawned such morning radio hits as “Grandpa’s Gone Gangsta” and “Ghost in the Trailer,” a hilarious tale about a family terrorized by a redneck ghost.

Larry launched Larry Weaver Entertainment booking agency to capitalize on his growing success. The company has a stellar reputation across the United States for providing 100% clean comedians and funny speakers for corporate meetings and special events.

Still performing, Larry loves to poke fun at office life and the culture that surrounds it. He encourages people to break out of their rut and achieve greatness.

With nearly twenty years in the corporate and entertainment worlds, Larry uses his unique experiences create a fresh, offbeat, and funny twist on workplace humor.
