EXAMPLE: I was born and raised in Athens, the controversial capital of Greece. On the whole I am a "city girl", being used to noisy crowds, warm and polluted days, but also lively and joyful nights. I am a big fan of art and when I was younger I wanted to become either a painter or a writer – the latter being still my unfulfilled dream. Nonetheless, the last ten years, I have been occupied with less ...urban but equally inspiring activities, through my work at WWF Greece and recently the Hellenic Ornithological Society too. I have a younger brother who is working as an architect and whose company I enjoy very much despite his more "structured" viewpoint but also a number of very close friends who share my artistic aspirations and existential agonies!
