

Book Review Template

A book review should be interesting to read and should reflect your reaction to the book. Be sure and set the stage for the reader. Give just enough background so they understand when and where the story takes place, and set up the main characters with a little description about who they are. Never give away the ending! It's always good to leave your readers curious!

Exciting opening statement: (For example, "Eli knew his life had changed the minute the door clanged shut and locked his family underground.")

Just a little bit about the plot: (Give a little background and explain the setting and characters and what they are facing)

Tell what you liked about the book: (or didn't like)

Your recommendation: (Tell who you think would enjoy this book. You can compare it to similar books you have read if it reminds you of another one)
