The Dash Between the Years

I read of a man who stood to speak
At the funeral of his friend
He referred to the dates on his tombstone
From the beginning to the end.
He noted that first came his date of birth
And he spoke the following date with tears.
But he said what mattered most of all
Was the dash between those years.
For that dash represents all the time
That he spent alive on earth
And now only those who loved him
Know what that little line was worth.
For it matters not how much we own,
The cars, the house, the cash,
What matters is how we live and love
And how we spent our dash.
So think about this long and hard
Are there things you'd like to change?
For you never know how much time is left
That can still be rearranged.
If we could just slow down enough
To consider what's true and real
And always try to understand
The way other people feel,
And be less quick to anger
And show appreciation more
And love the people in our lives
Like we've never loved before.
If we treat each other with respect
And more often wear a smile
Remembering that this special dash
Might only last a while.
So, when your eulogy is being read
With your life's actions to rehash
Would you be proud of the things they say
