PROFESSIONAL & SCHOLARLY CONTRIBUTIONS

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Harvard Library Leadership in a Digital Age. March 21-23, 2013.

- Digital technology is transforming the ways libraries must function to promote learning, advance knowledge and provide access to important information resources. These changes, in turn, have compelled library leaders to reevaluate their organization's core goals and purposes. Leaders must ask fundamental and unprecedented questions of practice, of both themselves and their organizations.

Association of Research Libraries. Research Library Leadership Fellows Program. 2009-2011.

- A member of the third cohort of ARL's RLLF program, an executive leadership program designed and sponsored by ARL member libraries that offers an opportunity for development of future senior-level leaders in large research libraries. The program curriculum is designed to build on self-assessment and exploration of a personal and professional area of interest in the context of a group learning setting. ARL faculty, library leaders, and sponsoring library directors integrate the fellows' learning goals with the "big picture" issues that are most pressing for future leaders of large research libraries.

ACRL/Harvard Leadership Institute for Academic Librarians, August 6-11, 2006.

- The Leadership Institute for Academic Librarians provides important leadership concepts and applies them to the practical challenges of leading and managing the contemporary academic library. The curriculum addresses three areas—planning, organizational strategy and change and transformational learning—with an overarching goal of increasing leadership and management capacity.

EXTERNAL COMMITTEES

Member of the Ontario Council of University Libraries ACE Pilot Information Toolkit Working Group. 2013 –

- The Accessible Texts project (a.k.a the Accessible Content E-Portal (ACE) pilot project) will enhance the ability of university libraries in Ontario to provide barrier free access to textual resources (books, documents, journals) for students and faculty with various kinds of print disabilities. This project aims to demonstrate the feasibility of opening the rich resources of Ontario’s university libraries to all members of the university community in a way that is cost-effective and sustainable.

The project has two related components: first, the development of a secure, easy to use web application for discovering and downloading digital books in accessible formats; and second, the development of a multi-media information toolkit for librarians and library administrators to help them better understand their obligations under the AODA legislation with respect to the provision of accessible content.

Ontario Council of University Libraries – Information Resources (OCUL-IR) Committee Chair, 2008 – 2011, York representative 2004 – 2011

- Membership includes OCUL Projects Officer and representatives from 21 OCUL member libraries. Committee assesses electronic resources for prospective consortial licensing. In addition, strikes several working groups at request of OCUL Executive. Most recently, those of which I have been a member include: OCUL-IR Strategic Planning working group, Scholars Portal Collection Policy working group, Thunder Bay Agreement working group (addressing retention of last print copies for journals), and a Google Book Settlement working group.

Toronto Area Library Liaison (TALL). 2004 – 2010.

- Group includes representation from Toronto Area university, college and public libraries as well as school board libraries. Meets annually to share information.
