

Product Manager/ Pricing Actuary

Division: PDM / NN Hellas

Location: NN Head Office / 198 Syngrou Avenue / Kallithea / Athens / Greece

Reference: PDP 0615

Job purpose:

Holds the responsibility of product development activities within the organization, implements product strategy in line with organization's objectives and strategy and ensures effective sharing of product related information across the company. Major responsibility is to design and execute pricing and profit testing exercises for products being in the design phase and to present to the actuarial department pricing and profit testing proposals.

Job description:

Your main responsibilities will include:

- Responsible for the pricing and profit testing of new Products.
- Responsible for maintenance of Product Development Methodology and learning circle of Product Development projects.
- Responsible for product tailoring solutions to answer requested offers in a timely and professional format.

Desired Skills/Experience:

You need to have:

- University degree in Statistics or Insurance.
- Postgraduate degree in Statistics or Actuarial Science.
- Actuarial experience especially in pricing of Life or Health Insurance products.
- Excellent oral and written knowledge of Greek and English language.
- 3 to 5 years of prior work experience in Actuarial.

Personal Profile:

As an employee of PDM Department you must have / be:

- Result driven attitude and time management while working under tight timelines.
- Delivery focus with attention to detail.
- Ability to solve problems using sound judgement and analysis.
- Strong sense of responsibility.
- Ability to work well with others in fast paced, dynamic environment and able to lead cross functional teams.
- Strong initiative and ability to manage multiple projects.
- Client oriented attitude.
- Strategic and creative thinker.

Application Deadline:

Please e-mail your application letter with your Curriculum Vitae to NN Hellas, clearly mentioning the position title, to cv@nnhellas.gr, for the attention of Ms. Antonia Kiriakakou.