Regulations and policies do not permit the release of student, spouse, or parental financial aid information without the consent of the student, spouse, and parent(s). This means that Financial Aid Office staff cannot discuss with anyone, including yourself, specific parental or spousal information provided without your parent's or spouse's written consent. It also means that our staff cannot discuss with anyone, including your parents or spouse, your specific student information without your written consent.

This "Consent for Release of Information" is being provided to you should you wish to authorize release of your financial aid information to your parent(s) or spouse. In Part I, you may indicate that your parent(s) may have access to your financial aid information. In Part II, your parent(s) or spouse may indicate that you may have access to their information.

This release will be in effect for the duration of your attendance at UCSD. If you wish to cancel or change this authorization, you must do so in writing.
