

Board meeting with the magazine team to decide on content of the upcoming issue

Journalists research and create features for the issue

Photographers do photoshoots with the design team

Editor and design team do the last finishing touches to the layout of the magazine and put in order for finished product

Design puts it all in place and then its sent off to print

Then it is distributed in shops

