Grow : Buy : Local

This storyboard template is based on Dave Hillman's "Storyboarding for WebPages"

Mission Statement

Current farming trends are harming the environment, but Seattle, WA is trying to help by moving toward local farming and food distribution through farmer's markets, food co-ops, and weekly delivery subscriptions.

This educational website is for anyone interested in the environment and how we can help the environment through different farming techniques.

This site will provide some basic background about current farming trends and how those trends harm the environment. In contrast, this site will also provide solutions to get involved through primary research and resources - local farmers and organizations.
