ROBERT MONTGOMERY

The ROBERT MONTGOMERY collection for Each x Other plays with the figure of the urban nomad, infusing classic shapes and fabrics with a sense of voyage and rebellion. Tuxedos, sweatshirts and shirts are emblazoned with embroidered patches announcing the arrival of "Mystic European Dreamtime", while bands reading "In the Fire of Each x Other" give poplin looks an athletic feel.

Robert Montgomery is a London-based artist who inducts his poetry into public spaces by creating installations or reclaiming advertising billboard all over the world. As we face his words, there is a profound moment of clarity; an epiphany sparked by an anonymous poem and the feeling that someone is speaking directly to us. Through textual sculptures displayed in natural or urban environments, his words become a part, not only of our surroundings, but also of our very being, lingering in our collective memory and glittering in the light of shared experience. His poems simultaneously articulate, reprehend and celebrate modern life, explaining our situation in ways more poignant than we could have imagined.

BLAIR CHIVERS

The BLAIR CHIVERS collection for Each x Other takes its inspiration from the artist's mirror painting series and sustained interest in the effects of positive psychology. Aluminium leather jackets and Bermuda shorts are splayed with a striking checked pattern, and optimistic messages are omnipresent across the line; beacons of positive energy that invite us to "Think of Light".

Blair Chivers is a Canadian artist who sees art as a driving force of positive thinking and emotions that stimulates ideas, broadens perspectives, brings self-confidence and increases our sense of possibility. A recurrent aspect of his work is the necessity to create simple messages that become unforgettable and meaningful for us all. For Chivers, art is a core producer of positive energy in society, which needs to be dispersed beyond galleries and museums walls. In his mirror paintings series, part of the Lux paintings, words, sentences, or even quotes from other artists act as take-away poems, encouraging slogans and leitmotiv that resonate with the public long after they are read. Through powerful ideas and messages, the artist addresses diverse but interrelated concepts in reference to art history, fashion, documentary art...

CORE COLLECTION

SPRING/SUMMER 2016

The silhouette is fitted and light, both feminine and tailored, combining primary colors and natural fabrics (linen, poplin, silk, wool). A clear dynamic runs through the collection, with timeless styles accentuated by visible stitching, bound seams and deconstruction of the garment. The summer line inspires freshness, awakening an intense creativity, holding onto the brand's love for the classics while remaining a creative wardrobe, playful with a twist - be it a tuxedo with stitching in primary colors, a cable knit sweater with see-through holes, a tailored pinstripe suit emblazoned with poetic patches or a silk dress with underwear influenced elastic applications that read IN THE FIRE OF EACH OTHER. With structured shoulders, wrap around shirts, and jackets that play with lengths and volume, the silhouette is both simple and highly artistic.
