

Lecturer in Broadcast Journalism

The Journalism Department of the University of Georgia's Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track faculty position, at the rank of Lecturer, to begin in August 2019.

Faculty salary/rank

Lecturer salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Responsibilities

The person hired for this position will teach undergraduate classes in broadcast and digital news, which include reporting, writing and producing, and journalism ethics. The individual selected will serve as the executive producer of daily student-driven newscasts that serve the Northeast Georgia audience. The Grady College news facility includes a computerized newsroom, a dedicated news studio and extensive digital video equipment. Applicants must possess newsroom leadership skills, as well as an understanding of various multimedia platforms and how students can produce work to maximize the unique facets of each platform. Applicants must be familiar with broadcast and digital production techniques.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have at least five years of recent industry experience, including in leadership roles. He or she will have a minimum of one year of teaching and/or mentoring experience. A doctoral or master's degree in mass communication or in a related field or discipline that has enhanced the candidate's work as a journalist is required. Candidates with a master's degree must document exceptional accomplishments in mass communication or in a related field or discipline that has enhanced the candidate's work as a journalist and must be approved for a terminal degree exception before hire.

Application Deadline

Screening of applications will begin Jan. 15, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. To apply, go to <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/27683>. Questions may be addressed to Professor Vicki Michaelis, search committee chair, at vickim@uga.edu.

About the Grady College

The Grady College celebrated its 100th anniversary in 2015. The college is home to the Peabody Awards, the National Press Photographers Association (NPPA) and NPPA's Best of Photojournalism awards. In addition to its undergraduate programs, the Grady College also houses graduate programs offering M.A., M.F.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The college hosts student chapters of the Association for Women in Sports Media, the National Association of Black Journalists, NPPA, the Online News Association and the Society of Professional Journalists. Learn more about the Department of Journalism and the Grady College at www.grady.uga.edu.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (facultyjobs@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Athens, the home of UGA, is a vibrant, diverse community that is consistently rated as one of the nation's best college towns. UGA is a Research I, land grant/sea institution located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta. More information about UGA is available at www.uga.edu.