

Writing Object Exhibit Labels

After objects have been conserved and studied, they are often placed in museum exhibits for the public. Usually, museum exhibits have a theme that connects the objects together. Carefully written labels give visitors important information about each object on display.

What information should be included in an exhibit label for each of your object? Use the following questions to help get you started.

| Information for Object Exhibit Label      |       |
|---|-------|
| Object:                                   | _____ |
| Maker:                                    | _____ |
| Date created or used:                     | _____ |
| Material made of:                         | _____ |
| Why object is important:                  | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |
| Relationship to other objects in exhibit: | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |

| Information for Object Exhibit Label      |       |
|---|-------|
| Object:                                   | _____ |
| Maker:                                    | _____ |
| Date created or used:                     | _____ |
| Material made of:                         | _____ |
| Why object is important:                  | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |
| Relationship to other objects in exhibit: | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |
|   | _____ |