

Quality Training Testing Plan

Welcome to Ivy Tech's quality training class. This training will introduce participants to continuous improvement methodologies and help equip them with tools and skills to enhance their work.

This class will culminate with participants taking the American Society for Quality Certification at the end of the training. This certification is recognized internationally. All participants enrolled in the Ivy Tech quality training classes are expected to sit for the next available ASQ exam scheduled after their training is complete. Passing that exam will result in earning the certification associated with your class.

Please sign and date below indicating that you plan to take the ASQ exam for this class.
