OUR MISSION

We are committed to keeping print relevant. Our focus is firmly fixed on a future that acknowledges the changing shift in the way we, as humans, communicate.

OUR VISION

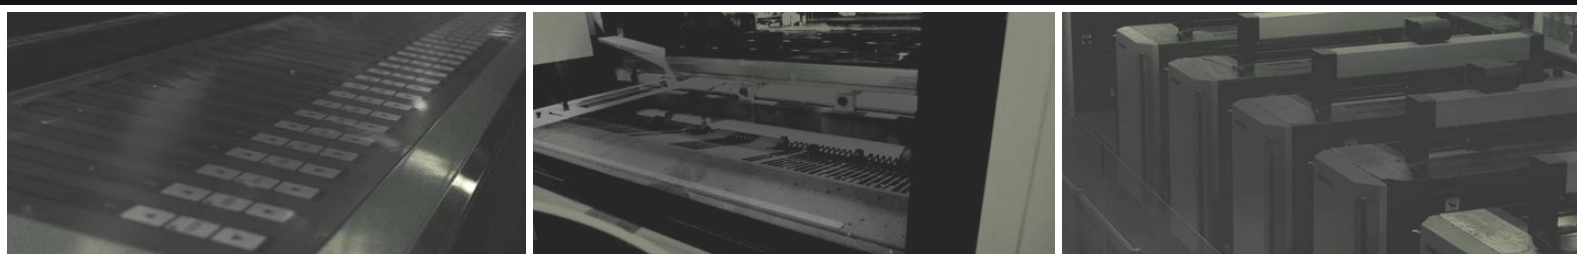

The essential vision of the Bright Print Group remains as relevant now as it has been for over half a century:

- a basic, solid framework built from effective systems and production methodology
- competent, diligent and valued employees
- effective communication with clients and suppliers
- an innovative approach to the future that is environmentally sensitive
- a culture of partnership with our clients

OUR BUSINESS

We produce a wide and diverse range of printed material. The scope of our work encompasses simple and serviceable collateral through to complex and bespoke projects. Understanding many kinds of businesses helps us connect and create long standing relationships from sectors such as retail, government, financial, leisure and philanthropic organisations.

Being aware of the world our clients work in allows us to be on the cusp of changing attitudes and operate from a position of strength. With state of the art facilities in both Sydney and Newcastle we have the capacity and flexibility to accommodate projects across 2 sites.

OUR HISTORY

In a suburban backyard over 52 years ago, the beginnings of a family legacy would take shape in line with the ever developing growth of print. W.R. Bright & Sons was predominantly a typesetting concern supplying type for Maisie Bright's (William Robert's sister) Fairfield Printery.

The family tie to printing did not start here though. In 1928, the first William (John) Bright began his foray into publishing and printing with 'The Biz'. This would become one of the region's largest newspapers and subsequently bought by Rupert Murdoch's Cumberland Newspapers.

Eventually William Robert went on to buy Maisie's business and so started the expansion, development and growth of what has today become the Bright Print Group. Throughout this period BPG has acquired and absorbed quality printing companies such as Riverstone Print and Bloxham & Chambers as well as our Newcastle facility NCP Printing.

The directorship of BPG has always remained in the Bright family. Current directors, Debbie and John, are the grandchildren of William Robert Bright.

OUR SUCCESSES AND MILESTONES

Fifty-two years has witnessed many decisions, changes and improvements. Aside from the core aspects of running any profitable business, being in an industry like print means a world of technological change and advance unseen within many other industry timelines.

BPG has manoeuvred agilely through these changes from the relatively exorbitant purchase of an $11000 Heidelberg KORD 62 in 1975, embracing litho print, through to the millions of dollars' worth of machinery and advanced prepress technology that occupy its buildings now.

All of this has been done though with the overriding pursuit of high quality, world standard print and a burgeoning awareness of the mark we make on our environment.

OUR LIST OF AWARDS IS TESTAMENT TO THE EXCEPTIONAL TALENT OF OUR ENTIRE TEAM.

ACCREDITATIONS

BPG's operations fall firmly within the strict adherence to national and international standards. We audit ourselves internally and are audited externally by SAI Global, SGS Australia and SD Environmental annually. Our Management Information System complies with the following standards and accreditations:

ISO9001:2000 – Quality since 1994

ISO12647-2 – Colour Management since 2011

ISO14001:2000 – Environment since 2008

ISO4801:2000 – WH&S since 2002

FSC accreditation since 2009

Sustainable Green Print since 2009

Sustainability Advantage Programme – Silver Partner since 2009

OUR ENVIRONMENT

We are one of the few printing companies in Australia which has a carbon managed printing facility. In 2013 we were one of only 6 companies world-wide to receive the inaugural Agfa Global Sustainability Award and the only company in the Asia Pacific region to do so.

We have achieved quantifiable results in line with our philosophy of minimising the use of non-renewable resources, maximising recycling opportunities and seeking out sustainable print and operational methodologies that stretch across the entire business.

An overview of our environmental achievements can be found on www.brightprintgroup.com.au

OUR CULTURE

Well-being comes from positive examples. BPG have long maintained and developed their corporate social responsibility.

In addition to our environmental and sustainable practices, we support the community and our chosen charities whenever we can. Some of the causes we support are the PCYC, The Children's Hospital Westmead and the Children's Cancer Institute Australia. The love, hope and mentoring these charities provide are immeasurable.

While being aware of what's going on in other's lives is important, our culture is fostered in our own backyard. BPG believes in equal opportunity and the safety and care of all employees. Diversity of any nature is respected in our company. All staff is encouraged to nurture a giving and mutually beneficial atmosphere toward each other, our clients and suppliers.
