

Sample of Thesis Chapter Template

Version: Windows

To maintain consistency in your thesis a word chapter template is used.

A Word template determines the basic structure of a new document as it inherits three areas:

- Styles – The fonts are built into the styles and are used to create Table of Contents, List of Tables, List of Figures and other Lists required. Styles allow use of the Navigation Pane in Word to quickly move throughout your chapter
- Page settings – paper size and margins
- Layout – headers, footers, page numbers and text on page

Using a chapter template allows the user to set the formatting once and use that formatting over and over again for each chapter of a thesis. Templates save time and effort and produce consistently formatted documents.

Templates must meet the requirements list in the Content section of the Procedure: Higher Degree by Research: Submission and Examination of Theses (#22-#32)

Download and save a Sample Thesis Template - there are 2 versions to choose from (see next page for examples)

The structure of the Chapter-Numbering attaches automatic numbering to all headings to allow each chapter to identify independently and follows begins with Heading 1 Chapter 1 and follows with Heading 2 of 1.1.

If you wish to deviate from this set structure you will require the use of the other sample template without Chapter-Numbering as it allows each chapter to have a 1.0 section of Introduction before section 1.1
