Students with ASD can be very capable writers and editors, but often struggle with fine motor tasks such as writing. Providing supports or accommodating written tasks to work around fine motor challenges can help provide a greater illustration of where the student's abilities may be in areas such as written expression.

In a Pick the Punctuation task, a student can place tokens on the correct punctuation for various statements and questions or he or she can indicate the correct punctuation using a Do a Dot Art! marker or paint instead of using a pencil to indicate the applicable punctuation. To use the task for multiple students, consider laminating the task.

Materials Needed:

- ✕ Activity (p.2)
- ✕ 9 bingo dots (p.3)
- ✕ Do a Dot Art! marker
- ✕ Sample reward and tokens (p.3)
- ✕ Token (Reward) board (p.4)
- ✕ Laminator (optional)
- ✕ Scissors (optional)
- ✕ Velcro for the Token Board (Reward Schedule)

Directions:

- ✕ Print out p.2
- ✕ Laminate bingo dots or have Do a Dot Art! markers accessible to a student
- ✕ Laminate tokens, rewards, and token board (if needed)

Optional: Use Reward schedule if needed. For additional information, see Reward Schedules How-To Template.

- ✕ Print p.3-4, if needed,
- ✕ Cut out rewards and tokens
- ✕ Place velcro on the back of the tokens and rewards, as well as the front of the token board as marked.
- ✕ Determine the rules and behaviors you would like to see when a student is making a task.
- ✕ Place the rules on the token board for use during the task.

Materials provided are samples only!

They may need to be individualized to meet the particular needs of a person with ASD!
